CITY CONTRACTS SALE OF PAVING BONDS AT PAR AND PREMIUM

COUNCIL WILL ASK STANDARD WATER MAINS FOR CITY

SERVICE OF INSURANCE COMMISSION SOUGHT IN SETTLEMENT PLANS.

The city will ask the Cameron Water Power and Light Company to install a standard system of water mains that will meet the requirements of the underwriters as a settlement prior to the laying of the paving, in the event the bonds are voted.

Some apprehension has been felt about this matter but the city has had the proposed improvment under advisement for some time and Wednesday Mayor J. B. White asked the department at Austin for the service of a hydraulic engineer to aid the city in adopting its plans for settlement with the water company. The council at its meeting Tuesday night endorsed this proceedure.

The Cameron Water, Power and Light company submitted a proposed plan of improvment but no action was taken on this plan. The city will ask for a settlement on a basis of permanency as improvments of the character proposed must comprehend the possible rapid growth of the city for many years to come.

Water mains in Cameron at the present time are inadequate, in some instances four inch mains being laid in the business district. In certain portions of the residence section no protection is available in case of fire. It will be sought by the city to provide protection everywhere as well as provide a standard system of mains for the business and more thickly settled residence portions.

The efforts of the city will answer the apprehension felt regarding the paving as no paving will be undertaken until the water system problem has been settled.

The Cameron Water, Power and Light Company through its manager, C. W. Lawrence, has shown a disposition to co-operate in every way possible to arrive at a suitable basis of settlement and the committee on fire and water feels reasonable certain that this matter will be cleared up within the next few days. The committee is as follows: C. R. Phillips, Chairman, George T. Graves and W. O Triggs.

SEWER EXTENSION CONTRACT TO BE AWARDED SOON

SURVEY IS ORDERED AT ONCE AND COMMITTEE IS PREPARING FOR BIDS.

Extension of the sewerage system for which $14,000 was recently voted by the people will begin in a short time now that a survey has been ordered by the city council.

A. F. Mitchelll will make the survey for the city, contract having been entered into at a meeting Tuesday night when Mr. Mitchell outlined for the council the necessary proceedure in making the extensions. Mr. Mitchell ic county engineer and the advantage of his experience is sought by the city in making the extensions.

C. R. Phillips, chairman of the street committee, with George T. Graves and Henry M. Hefley, as members of this commitee, will begin at once to prepare for advertising for bids on this work. Judge W. G. Gillis is preparing the bonds and this week took them to Austin for the approval of the attorney general. They have been purchased by Cameron banks.

Those who have built new residences and those who are to begin the erection of new homes now are assured of quick extensions of the sewerage lines. The lines have been tentatively determined but a complete survey will be made.

MILAM COUNTY LEGISLATORS FACE A BUSY SESSION

MILAM REPRESENTATIVES GET IMPORTANT PLACES ON HOUSE COMMITTEES.

With one chairmanship and various important committee assignments in the house of representatives of which they are now serving their second terms, Representative O. D. Baker and Representative Tke Looney, have begun to give account of their stewardship in the Texas Law Making body.

Mr. Baker has been appointed to a chairmanship of the committee on insurance in the house. Other committee assignments for Mr. Baker are as follows: Appropriations, conservation and reclamation, constitutional amendments, roads and bridges.

Mr. Looney ocucpies a unique position as to committee assignments in the legislature. Being a standpatter on the constitution of 1876 he is a member of the committee on constitutional amendments. Other assignments for Mr. Looney are as follows: Game and fisheries, public health and liquor traffic.

It looks like a busy season for Milam representatives. A canvass of the situation will show that unusual plans are on foot for the law makers regarding the problems of conservation and reclamation. Calling a constitutional convention to rewrite the constitution, has been urged by Governor Neff as well as a number of house and senate members. Both Milam representatives are on this committee. It is known that Mr. Baker favors the call but Mr. Looney is steadfastly opposed to rewriting the constituttion, preferring to put whatever patches are necessary in the old garament even though it is a little out of vogue. In conversation recently with a representative of the Herald in Austin Colonel Looney declared himself in favor of certain amendments to the constitution now being mentioned by Governor Neff in his recent adresses and those offered by others, but declares the time unwise to call a convention to give the state a new instrument of government.

Mr. Looney will support, he told the Herald Representative, many of the Governor's recommendations on law enforcement. Being a dyed in the wool prohibitionists Mr. Looney will do some good work as a member of the committee on liquor traffic.

Mr. Baker is openly espousing the call for the convention, believing the state's progress hampered by inadaquate constitution. He has declared in favor of the law enforcement program of the governor and will be quite active piolting legislation of his own origination.

Stockmen in the county regret to see Mr. Baker take so strong a stand against the tick eradication work, his his position being freely criticised among Stockmen who have gone to the expense of cleaning up their herds. Mr. Baker has introduced a bill in the house to abolish the livestock sanitary commission and to place it under the supervision of the department of agriculture.

Judging from the statements made by Mr. Baker in a recent address to anti-tick forces in the Milam county court house, it would follow as probable that Mr. Baker would much prefer to give the commission no place in the government so far as its work of tick eradication is concerned. However the bill Mr. Baker is based on economic grounds, a continuance of the policy prevalent in many of the preceeding legislatures to concentrate the administration of state service thereby reducing overhead.

Mr. Baker will introduce a bill to compel attendance of all pupils of scholasaic age on the public schools through the eighth grades, and prescribing the course for all private and parochial schools. This bill does not apply to the instiutions of higher learning. It is sure to have strong

R. L. BATTE FAVORS BOND ISSUE FOR NEW SCHOOL

Mr. Editor:—While talking with a member of the School Board on Monday, I was greatly surprised to learn the present crowded condition of both of our public schools, and that it would probably be necessary to vote bonds in a short time to provide suitable buildings, etc., to take care of the pupils. These conditions exist.

I would suggest to the City Dads, the Commercial Club and the powers that be, to knock out our paving election and have the Board go to work at once getting data on plans, locations and probable costs of the buildings needed (making them adequate for 30 years to come) and let's vote a bond issue sufficiently large to take care of it. Let's make the Cameron schools something of which the City can justly be proud. I believe that such an issue would go through without much opposition, for it would benefit every person whether man, woman or child, not only in the city, but for miles around. A splendid system of schools and churches will cause Cameron and the surrounding country to grow and develop as nothing else will and the tax burden will not only be evenly distributed, but every one will be equally benefitted also and the people that would have to pay one-third or more of paving a few blocks could spend their money building more residences and make it a bigger and better Cameron. Let's kill the paving election, forget about sewerage bonds for the time being and vote for a bond issue and build a school of which we will all feel justly proud, and show our appreciation of the efforts of our School Board and teachers to make a success of our schools. Could not a petition be gotten up with sufficient signers to stop the expense and bad feeling that always attends a hard fought election? Is it not a fact that quite a few of the people who were in favor of paving and signed a petition to the Council, are now opposed to it since they have found the true conditions and expenses pertaining to it? We can do without the paving and the schools we must have sooner or later.

Allow me to appologise for breaking into print again but I have always been a strong advocate of better schools and good roads. I have never opposed a school tax and am now paying special tax in more than a dozen school districts and also paying tuition for my children to come to Cameron to school.

Yours for larger schools for Cameron, which I know will bring a bigger, better and cleaner city, and yours for a School Bond issue instead of a Street Paving bond issue. I thank you.

MINERVA PRODUCTION IN JANUARY SHOWS INCREASE

DRASTIC PROGRAM TO ENFORCE LAWS OUTLINED BY NEFF

GOVERNOR LAYS PLAN FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT BEFORE TEXAS LEGISLATURE

Austin, Texas., Jan. 15.—Canvassing of the vote of the November general election resulting in the election of Governor Neff and Lieutenant Governor T. W. Davidson and reading of Governor Neff's message and recomendations on law enforcement consumed most of the time of the two legislative bodies today.

The vote canvass showed Neff victory over W. H. Atwell, his republican opponent, 344,199 votes to 13,327, and Davidson victor over George Kepple 333,550 to 56,519.

The governor's message was in the line with his past speeches on the subject of law enforcement. After pointing out the necessity for respect for and obedience to law if civilization is to endure, the chief executive made several recomendations as to legislative needs for more effective law enforcement. These included a law requiring state officials to subscribe to an oath that they will not violate the prohibition laws; prohibition of the sale or lease of pistols; expedition of trial of criminal cases; repeal of suspended sentence law; making it a pentitentary offense to possess liquor and infliction of a jail sentence for ence of intoxicants.

Bills proposing a state college for appearing in public under the influwest Texas and appointment of a commission to make recommendations as to a site, etc., were introduced in the house by Representative Baldwin of Slaton. A tax of one cent on every ten cent sale of beverages and refreshments is proposed in a bill by Representative Melson of Sulphur Springs.

A short address by Thomas H. Ball of Houston, former congressman and prominent Texas democrat, featured the afternoon session of the house.

FIELD NOW MAKES 450 BARRELS DAILY

PRICE ADVANCED TO $1.60 PER BARREL THIRTY-EIGHT GRAVITY.

The Minerva field seven miles south of Cameron came to the front the past two weeks and increased production some 55 barrels daily over the last half of December 1922. The production for the fast half of January was 450 barrels daily or a total for the 15 days of 6750 barrels. Several new wells were drilled in and accounts for the rapid increase. Minerva crude oil took a jump of 10 cents per barrel, the Owens Company following the lead of the Magnolia Petroleum in the advance announced for Mid Continent crude. The price is now $1,60 per barrel for 38 gravity and above.

Hefley, McIntosh and Thomas on their Ben McClellan lease continue to get good wells as do also the Lee Oil and the Lee-House Company, on the Neihous property.

Blake Smith of Mexia, who drilled the well on the Cooper farm north of the proven pool in the Minerva field, has a 5 barrel producer on the pump. This well extends the territory about one and one half miles to the north and east and opens up what is believed to be an extension of the field. It is reported that the Owens Petroleum Company has purchased a lease on the Sam Cobb farm north of the Cooper tract and have moved on tools for the drilling of a shallow test well on the bank of the Little River. Carl Fegel and oil operator driller has the contract for the drilling of the first well.

In the wildcat district the wells are nearly all shut down waiting orders or for tools. The S. A. Guiberson, Jr., number one Posey, is shut down around the 3800 foot level for casing. The hole has been caving below the 6 and 5-8 casing and a string of 4 1-2 inch will be run as soon as it arrives from Kiechl, Texas. Drilling on this well will be resumed as soon as casing is set. Nearly all the big company scouts are on the ground watching the hole.

METHODIST MEN HOLD BROTHERHOOD MEETING WEDNESDAY

MORE THAN 90 GATHER FOR SECOND OF MONTHLY BANQUETS.

Wednesday evening the Methodist held their monthly "Brotherhood" meeting on the ground floor of their new church. Circle four of the Ladies Missionary Society had charge, under the direction of their chairman, Mrs. R. L. Batte, Sr.

The main assembly hall on this floor was most artistically decorated featuring the blue bird and its color for adornment. The five tables were beautiful in their snow appointment with blue wax tapers appeared down the center of each table and shed a mellow light over the pink rose buds in crystal bud holders placed to advantage. Beautiful festoons of crepe paper in the color scheme were draped from the corners of the room to central light in hall. Crepe paper napkins featured the blue bird while this bird of blue was given as plate favors.

Medsker's Melody Orcehstra furnished music for the occasion rendering some choice selections. Dr. A. S. Epperson acted as Toast Master.

Dick Brewer read the minutes of last meeting, taking off many amusing incidents. Moulton Cobb, the youthful orator of the Brotherhood, spoke on the subject of "Brotherhood." Next a delightful four course banquet was served. Paul Webb, city attorney, gave a beautiful talk on "Womanhood" which was filled with flights of wit and humor, after which Mack Harvey rendered a beautiful vocal solo. Mr. Davidson, teacher of Philosophy in Southwestern University, spoke briefly on current topics. Messrs J. L. Clinton and W. A. Bonds were pleasing after-dinner entertainers in the way of old-time fiddlers, creating a most fun provoking spirit, after which the Toast Master announced that later on C. N. Green would render one of his famous vocal solos accompanied by W. H. Triggs on the piano. Prof. Medsker rendered a couple of solo numbers on the violin which was much enjoyed. The principal speaker of the evening was then introduced—Dr. P. W. Horn, President of Southwestern University, subject—"Man and the Modern Church." Dr. Horn is a gifted speaker and was given perfect attention. His speech was a gem within itself and gave much food for though along this theme.

There were over ninety men seated at the table where good feeling reigned, and was the means of broadcasting a spirit of good fellowship to all those who came within its radiance.

REVISION OF LEVY PLACES TAX AT 17 CENTS INSTEAD 25

RETIREMENT OF BONDS WILL COST LESS THAN ANTICIPATED BY COMPUTERS.

Contract has been made by the city of Cameron with the National Bank of Commerce of St. Louis for the sale of the street paving bonds to be voted on February 13.

The contract is made contingent upon the voting of the bonds of this date. The price to be paid is par and accrued interest plus a premium amounting to about $1,000. The premium consists of $500 in cash and service for handling the issue totaling about $500.

A representative of the St. Louis bank met with the council and in bidding for the bonds submitted a correct schedule of the tax levy necessary for the retirement of the bonds. This tax will be 17½ cents. It was first thought that a tax levy of 25 cents would be necessary but this will not be necessary.

The contract for the sale of these bonds is considered an excellent sale by the council as the expense of handling the issue will be taken care of by the purchasers and in addition a cash premium of $500 will be paid.

The money is to be paid and to be deposited in the local banks. By this contract, in the event the bonds are voted, it will relieve the city of handling charges and in the event of a sudden decline on the bond markets no deficit will have to be raised as the contract calls for par and accrued interest as stipulated by law.

At this time the bond market is good and the prices obtaining are responsible for this good price paid. The financial condition of the city is responsible also for the value on the bonds. On a valuation of about $4,000,000 the city has a bonded indebtedness of about $30,000. This includes the sewerage bonds at $14,000.

The wise policy of the council in arranging local finance for all previous issues of bonds and warrants has enabled the council to save thousands of dollars to the tax payers by making the bonds and warrants payable in advance of maturity if desired to be paid in this way.

Local banks have purchased the sewerage bonds and work is to start at once on the extensions.

MITCHELL AGAIN NOMINATED FOR LEGION HEAD

PRESTON LAIRD NAMED AS VICE COMMANDER OF POST

The called meeting of the American Legion Edwin Hardy Post No. 9 was held in the Legion Hall over the Palace of Sweets on Wednesday evening at 8:30. The meeting was presided over by A. F. Mitchell, Post Commander. The meeting was the most enthusiastic one that has been held in the Legion for some time, business was transacted for which one meeting was called and matters pertaining to the future needs of the post was disposed of.

The nominations for officers of the Post for the year 1923 were made from the floor and the following were named: Post Commander, A. F. WHAT THE GOVERNMENT COULD DO WITH $98,500,000 TARIFF GIVEN TO SUGAR TRUST

Republican leaders in Congress always invoke the bogey of paternalism when it is suggested that the Government ought to appropriate funds for the contstruction of roads, the assistance of agriculture, or the lending of money to farmers. Every such proposition has to run the gauntlet of Republican opposition, and either fails or comes through the test badly crippled. The record of the present Republican Congress furnishes ample verification of this statement.

While withholding support from highways and agriculture and bankrupt farmers, these same Republican leaders work, and vote to tax the whole country for the benifit of special interests which demand "protection" through a Republican tariff. The sugar Trust, which lately has distributed big dividends—after raising the price of its product— is one of the pets of the Republican party. How the Sugar Trust profits by the Fordney-McCumber tariff law is made plain in an article written by Carlton A. Shively and published in the New-York Evening Post of December 30.

After reviewing the sugar market up to the passage of the Fordney-McCumber bill, Mr. Shively says:

"When the new rate went into effect conditions in the sugar market had changed radicallly. If not exactly a seller's market, it was, at any rate, a market in which there was a fair balance between buyer and seller. This meant that the additional 16 cents per 100 pounds (due to increase in the tariff on sugar to 1.76 cents a pound for Cuban raws) was added to the price of refined sugar and paid by the American consumer.

"At present Cuban sugars are selling in this market before payment of the duty at 3.75 cents a pound and duty free sugar is quoted at 5.53 cents. Thus on an estimated consumption of 5,000,000 tons the public is pawying the sum of $197,000,000 more (each year) than it would be called upon to pay but for the tariff. Of this the Treasury gets $98,500,000 on the basis of 2,5000,000 tons of Cuban sugar consumed in this country."

The remainder of the $197,000,000 goes to the producers and refiners of sugar in this country and the insular possessions. Their products pay no tariff but they get the advantage of the higher prices due to the duty placed on Cuban sugar. Very little of this increase in price finds its way into the pockets of the sugar beet growers in the United States. They are suffering from the agricultural panic along with other farmers.

The annual tax of $98,500,000 imposed on the American people for the enrichment of the Sugar Trust would go a long way toward improving the condition of agriculture and benefiting the whole country if it were applied to public instead of private and selfish purposes.

With the total of $98,500,000 which the Forney-McCumber profiteer's tariff act gives as an annual tribute to the Sugar Barons there could be built each year nearly 5,000 miles of highways of the best type.

Ninety-eight millions invested each year in reclamation and the irrigation would make many thousands of acres of land in the West and Southwest productive and capable of sustaining a large population.

The same amount of money would provide a fund almost twice as large as that now available from which to make farm loans to farmers and stock raaisers in the West and South.

Ninety-eight millions is more than the aggregate cost of maintaining the State, Commerce, Labor, Justice and Executive departments of the Federal Government. The expenditures of these several departments are about $79,000,000 a year.

Meantime the taxpayers are footing all these bills and in addition are compelled by the profiteers tariff law to increase their cost of living by some $4,000,000,000 a year.

SENATOR BOARH'S SECOND VICTORY.

The withdrawal of the Borah amendment for an economic conference was a great victory for Senator Borah, depite the efforts of the administration press to make it appear to be a defeat. The amendment was not withdrawn until it had accomplished its purpose of forcing the administration through its recognized spokesmen to offer a substitute plan in the way of negotations looking to the abandonment of the administration's policy of isolation and aloftness.

In a way, Senator Borah repated his performance when he "smoked out" the administration on disarmament, although no treay resulting from the Desarmament Conference has yet been ratified.

As the matter now stands, the administration admits that its policy of isolotion has been a blunder. It costs the agricultural and other industrial interests from fifteen to twenty billions of dollars to educate the administration sufficiently to recognize the fact that it had made this terrible mistake in ignoring conditions in Europe and the existence of Europe itself.

To what extent it will now attempt to repair that blunder remains to be seen. For two years the Republicians in power have done nothing in this respect and they have not tried to do anything. In the opinion of many, they are incapable of formulating any effective foreign policy because they lack the moral courage and the common honesty to deal with the European situation with courage and honesty. Still others doubt their intelligence to deal effectively with international affairs. These persons hold that there is not even an approximation of statesmanship in the Harding administration family. The president himself seems only to fear that he may do something to enrance the credit and glory of the Wilson administration.

However, Senator Borah, according to the cossensus of opinion here, has forced the administration into the open where it must finally abandon its destructive policy of isolation or confess to another failure to deal with international affairs to relieve world-wide distress and avert pending economic chaos.

LET US HAVE RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

There is being prepared for introduction by Representative O. D. Baker of the 65th district, in the house of representatives of Texas legislature a bill to require all pupils of scholastic age to attend the public schools of Texas. An exception is made in the case of private and parochial schools but the bill proposes to prescribe the course of study for these schools and to require their supervision by county superintendents.

The course of study, as proposed in this bill, is the same as that now taught in the public schools of the state.

While the course of study of the public schools and the public schools as an institution in this country need no defense, it is nevertheless deplorable that legislation is being sought that though obstensibly amiable in character yet reeks with the odium of ntolerance and strikes at a fundamental of constitutional government.

The bill can have no other purpose that to legislate out of existence private and parochial schools for the reason that though it would permit their operation it would by compulsion prescribe their courses of study and place them under the juresdiction of the state. The fact that incorporated in these courses for private and parochial schools is included religious training make them secure in the license of constitutional privilege and therefore legislation of this character is in plain contravention of the constitution.

The bill, if by any means operative, could have no benifical economic purpose for the reason that private and parochial schools now receive no support from the state and in the event placed under state control would be eligible to state aid and thus would the tax burden be increased.

Legislation aimed at religious liberty should have no place in a free government.

The curriculum of the parochial schools is the same as in the public schools. Reading, writing and arithmatic, history, geography, grammar and spelling is taught. Bible history and Cathecism is taught which is a part of the religious training.

In the south the teachings in the parochial and pubilc schools in all the grades are on the par. In the north the parochial schools are two grades ahead of the public school. The fifth grade in parochial schools equals the seventh grade in public schools.

In the north, east and west the Catholic school teachers attend all Teachers Institutes, and all State and county conventions. The Catholic school teachers go before the State boards for examinations and are issued certificates the same as the public school teachers.

The text books are thes ame.

Roman Catholics maintain their parochial schools at no cost to the State, County or City. The schools are maintained by the congregations. Aside from the religious training, another advantage in parochial schools is the 9 months school year. The school opens at 8:30 a.m. and closes at 4 p. m. while the school in the rural districts only have six and one half months schools out of the year. This is on account of shortage of school funds. If the parochial schools are legislated out of the State, what is the State going to do to take care of the overflow. Now they are taxed to capacity with the pupils they have.

Issue must be taken with the Bill, realizing that all religion must suffer if the bigot has his way. While the very genius of Americanism is that every Jew Athist, Baptist, Unitarian, Methodist, Seventh-Day Adventists, Presbyterian, Quaker, Congregationalist, Episcopalian, Roman Catholic, and all the rest of the religous catagory have indisputable right to their religion. The very spirit of our constitution declares that Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.

LODGE'S ADMISSION ON FOREIGN TRADE VINDICATES DEMOCRATIC POSITION

Reluctant but eloquent evidence that the Fordeny McCumber profiteer's tariff law has not cured and is not likely to remedy the depression which has bankrupted American farmers is to be found in the words and acts of Republicans in Congress.

Senator Bursum (Rep., N. Mex.), in introducing a bill to extend to Germany a credit of 1,000,000,000 for the purchase of food stuffs and raw materials in this country, admitted that some effort must be made to find a foreign market for agricultural surpluses now being held in the United States to the detriment of producers.

The bill which Senator Bursum fathered, he said, was intended to stimulate trade in the United States upon the assumption that most of the depression in the farming districts was due to the inability of agricultural producers to dispose of their products abroad.

In the course of a speech against Senator Borah's proposal to call a conference to consider Europe's economic difficulties, Senator Lodge (Republican, Mass., acknowledged that unless Europe is rehablitated and pacified American trade will suffer. After declaring that the Harding administration would do "anything reasonable" to help Europe, Senator Lodge said:

"Selfishness alone would be a sufficient reason for that, because the restoration of Europe to stability would tend to widen our markets and increase our commerce."

This is a change of front on the part of leading Republican advocates of the Fordney-McCumber bill. When that measure was in course of enactment most of the Republican pronounced it a guarantee to prosperity for American industry, agriculture, and labor, and a stimulus to foreign commerce.

Senator Lodge's admission is a vindication of the Democratic position in 1919 and 1920, and since.

REVISING TARIFF SCHEDULES IN THE DARK BRINGS PROTESTS.

Protest against the sechecy with which the Tariff Commission is shrouding applications for changes in the Fordeny-McCumber profiteer's tariff act are being lodged with President Harding. Among the protestants are representatives of large business interests. They complain that the Tariff Commission's secretiveness is causing serious uncertainty.

About 100 applications for revision of the Fordney-McCumber law are of the Fordney-McCumber law are now pending before the Commission according to the New York Heradl's Washington correspondent. The Commission refuses to give any information, regarding the character of these applications or the commodities they would affect. The objectors of this policy contend that some of their rivals may be the applicants for changes and the benificiaries of any revision that the Commission makes. Knowing that they are seeking changes in the law, the applicants would have an advantage over the competitors, it is urged, if the commission raised or lowered a rate in which they were interested.

This secrecy and the opportunity for favoritism and discrimination in the revision of the Fordney-McCumber law by the President or his representation were made the grounds of objection by Democrats in Congress when the measure was in process of passage. The democrats pointed out that, in addition to giving the President a practical authority to levy the "flexible" provision of the bill would permit the rates of duty to be increased or decreased in private and without an opportunity on the part of the public to hear and appraise the reasons which prompted one action or the other.

YOE HI DEFEATS BEN ARNOLD

Yoe Hi met and defeated Ben Arnold Tuesday night by a score of 29 to 11. This makes the third victory for Yoe Hi, having defeated Yarrelton twice.

The line-up:

Substitutions: Ben Arnold; Denson for Hearne.

Yoe Hi: Tyndal for Childress, Ely for Tyndall, Thomas for Sykes, Green for Graham, McCall for Baggett, Reichart for Willis, Baggett for McCall, Taylor for Green.

Refree: Brewer.

Rice was the individual star for Ben Arnold, scoring nine of Ben Arnold's total of eleven points. The Ben Arnold Five was small, but showed up well against the strong Yoe Hi combination.

Taylor ran away with the scoring honors for Yoe Hi, altho he played only a part of the last half. Coach Perkins played second string men because the first five plays Yarrelton Wednesday night.

TWICE PROVED.

If you suffer backache, sleepless nights, tired, dull days and distressing urniary disorders, don't experiment. Read this twice-told testimony. It's Cameron evidence—doubly proven.

J. D. Cone, carpenter, Third St., says: "I had been troubled for some time with my kidneys. There was a weakness across my back and at times, it became very painful. There was an irregularity of the kidney secretions and at times, they were profuse in passage and highly colored. I was compelled to lay off work for several days. I procured a box of Doan's Kidey Pills, and through their use, I was soon feeling better in every way."

IF SICK TODAY!
TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to buy a bottle for a few cents and if it doesn't strengthen you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money back.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, bilious-ness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens while my Dodson's Liver Tone is sane, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work

Glass of Salts Cleans Kidneys

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract.

Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood, in 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so you can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Nervous Break-Down

MRS. ANNIE LANGE, of R.F.D. 1, Burlington, Tex., writes as follows regarding her experience with Cardui: "Some time ago I had a nervous breakdown of some kind. . . I was very weak and so nervous. I had fainting spells and suffered a great deal, but more from the weak, trembly, no-account feeling than anything else. I knew I needed a tonic, and needed it badly. I began the use of Cardui to see if I couldn't get some strength, as I knew of other cases that had been helped by its use. I soon saw a great improvement, so I kept it up. I used seven bottles of Cardui, and can say the money was well spent, for I grew well and strong. Am now able to do all my housework and a great deal of work besides."

If you are weak, run-down, nervous and sufier from the ailments peculiar to women, it is very likely that Cardui will help you, in the way it helped Mrs. Lange and has helped thousands of others, during the past 40 years.

Ask for, and insist on, Cardui.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common Garden Sage and Sulphur makes streaked, faded or gray hair dark and youthful at once

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very litle cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

MEMBERS OF STATE BOOK COMMISSION MAKE STATEMENT

ANSWER CHARGES CONCERNING CHANGE IN TEXT BOOKS FOR STATE.

H. D.Fillers, a member of the state text book commission, released for publication today the following statement explaining in some detail the action taken by the commission recently when a number of changes were made in the text books used in the schools of Texas. Mr. Fillers in releasing this statement pointed out that although it was not approved by every member of the board, six out of the eight members had authorized their signatures attached thereto. He also pointed out that the two members not endorsing the statement voted against the change of text books at the recent meeting of the commission and have been against any change from the start and that it was not expected by the commission that these two members would give their endorsement.

Those members of the commission endorsing the statement are as follows: Ed. R. Bentley, McAllen; O. A. Fleming, Freeport; L. F. Dudley, Abilene; Paula Henry, Sherman; H. D. Fillers, Corsicana; Elizabeth Mixon, Amarillo. The two refusing to give their endorsement are Bonner Frizzell, Palestine, and Wesa Weddington, Bryan. Although Mr. Fillers would not indicate Gov. Neff's attitude toward the statement the impression is left that the Governor is familiar with the statement and is aware that it is being released for publication.

The statement is as follows:

"There has been a somewhat general discussion in the public press concerning the action taken by the Text Book Commission at its recent meeting in Austin. In general, the opinions expressed have been quite noticeably lacking in fairness and true valuation of the facts involved. It seems, therefore, that the public is entitled to a statement from some member of the commission setting forth, so far as is possible in a short article, the real situation. After a full and frank discussion of the whole matter from various angles for nearly fifteen months, it was the deliberate judgment of the commission that the action taken was sanctioned by the facts. We used the discretionary powers vested in us by law for what we conceived to be for the general good of the school children of Texas. With all the facts before us, we firmly believe that a careful consideration of the questions involved will abundantly justify our action.

"There appears to be a general misconception on the part of the public as to the actual number of books changed. "Wholesale changes" has been a favorite expression of the press. This leaves an impression which is entirely wrong. The facts are that approximately one-sixth of all contracts for books expires each year. Of the contracts expiring this year, we readopted the Composition and Rhetoric, the Writing System, the Phoyics, Everyday Classics, Elson Readers, and several other supplementary readers. We changed the Arithmetic, Agriculture, Geography, and a part of two series of supplementary readers. This is certainly not a "wholesale change."

"Statements in the press estimating the cost of these changes are highly exaggerated. We estimate that the total cost will be approximately one dollar per child for the next year. When the total figure only is given, it creates the impression that the bill is enormous; but this does not appear so large when one considers purchasing books for a million and a quarter school children in one lot. Under the old individual buying plan which was used previous to the enactment of the present Free Text Book Law, an expenditure of one dollar per pupil would have been considered inexpensive. We believe that the children in the schools are entitled to modern tools with which to prepare themselves to meet the demands of the present day. If the individuals makeing up the public had been doing the buying, they would have favored the discarding of these badly worn and out of date texts and the purchasing of new and modern books to take their places. We represented them in our official action and tried to do what we believed they would have done had they been buying individually for their own children.

"The Agriculture, by Ferguson, which has been in use in the schools for a period of four years, and which has proved to be too elementary and too brief, was replaced by a modern and up to date Agriculture written by one of the best authorities on the subject in the United States, Dean Kyle, of the A. & M. College of Texas. This book is a scientific treatment which applies directly to Texas conditions.

"The Geography replaced has been used for ten years in the schools of Texas. During the past four years these books have been furnished free to the children. The maps in these old books, as well as the figures of production and population, were at least ten years old. Anyone ought to be able to see the educational advantage in supplying the children of the state with geographies which give the boundaries of the countries of Europe Asia and Africa as they exist today, and which show items of production and population of our own country according to the census of 1920. The changes which were made as a result of the great world war are not taken into account by the books in use in the schools. It was necessary, therefore, to replace old material by putting modern books into the hands of the children of the state. The revised books of the present series or a new series are required. We think this was generally recognized by those fully acquainted with the facts. Even the company publishing the old geographies did not seriously contend for a readoption of that text which they realized to be out of date, for in discussing the matter with the commission, they emphasized an entirely different book. In fact, in coming to the conclusion that a more modern text book in geography is needed in the schools, the commission has followed the precedent set by California, Louisiana, North Carolina, South Carolina, and many of the leading cities of the United States whose Text Book commissions have made changes in geographies during the last two years in order to bring the material in the schools as nearly up to date as possible. The series of geographies adopted by the Commission is widely and extensively used throughout the United States.

"The Arithmetics now in use in schools have been owned by the state four years. During that time every one of these books has been used repeatedly. In fact, a casual examination in nearly any school during the present session will reveal the fact that the books are practically worn out and that by the time this school term ends in the spring a majority of the books can scarcely be kept together. In considering the matter, the Commission took into account also the general complaint from the patrons of the schools that the children are not learning arithmetic as they should. The blame for this has been placed largely on text books which were unsuited to Texas conditions. This is especially true in rural schools where there is a great number of poorly prepared teachers who cannot supplement the books satisfactorialy. The Commission believes that it has purchased a text which is for superior to the old book. The Commission had deliberately in mind the better teaching of the fundamental processes of arithmetic, such as addition, subtraction, etc. The new books have at least fifty per cent more drill material in them with which to accomplish this result.

"The three sets of books changed have been used the entire period of the Free Text Book Law and they have rendered their maximum of service to the state. The life of the majority of these books has been run. The number of books necessary to be bought for replacement of worn out and torn up books of the old series would have repeatedly increased from this time on. This would have added a constantly increasing burden during the life time of an extended contract. If, therefore, these texts needed to be changed, as the Commission thought, then this year was the opportune and economical time to make the change.

"The Commission wanted gradual introduction. Both the arithmetic and geography were adopted first on the plan would have permitted the full use of all old books, making the replacement in certain grades from the newly adopted series. The plan would have saved the state the expenditure of a large sum of money in one year but it would not have decreased the total cost through a period of six years, as so many copies of books must be bought whether the adoption is a renewal, a new contract entirely, or a gradual introduction scheme. Superintendent-Elect Marrs, by ruling that this scheme could not be undertaken, by a written opinion given the Commission, caused them to abandon the gradual introduction plan. The Commission went on record as favoring the revision of the Free Text Book Law by the Legislature so as to make possible hereafter the gradual introduction of new books and thus to simplify and improve the text book situation.

"The public is also entitled to know who so much has been said in the press in opposition to the action of the Commission. Resolutions and other publicity matter of a one-sided nature opposing the changes made have been sent out from particular sections of the state. This propaganda has been sent to the presidents and secretaries of all school boards of the state, to many superintendents, and to all newspapers, both large and small. One might inquire as to the reason for this sudden interest and he wonders who is paying the expenses of this publicity campaign. An unsigned printed pamphlet containing hand-picked testimonials in favor of a book replaced has been given extensive circulation. One of the big book companies having lost a large contract in the recent action of the Commission, has sent letters directly from its office and signed by its manager, making protest against the changes on the grounds of the large cost to the state. This same company was not so concerned two years ago when it received a contract to replace a series of books which had been used as free texts in the schools only two years. The schools at that time were clamoring for additional appropriations; but the argument now used by this company and by some of the press was not considered valid. It does not take a far stretch of the imagination to understand that some of the companies who have lost contracts are interested now in stirring up opposition to the action of the Commission with the hope that in some way or other they may get the new contract abrogated and the business restored to them. It will be a sorry day for Texas when powerful corporations can by propaganda, mould public sentiment to fit their own selfish and financial ends.

"Much has been made in these opposition articles by playing up the phrase "taking money away from the schools." The protestants seem to lose sight of the fact that in 1918 the people of Texas voted an amendment to the Constitution authorizing an increase in the tax levy for the purpose, mainly, of supplying free text books to the children. No less authority than Superintendent-Elect Marrs is quoted in the press as having said recently in a public address that he doubted seriously if the people could have been coaxed to vote this additional tax for any other purpose than the purchase of free text books. Anyone who is acquainted with the details of the campaign which was made in favor of the adoption of this Amendment to the Constitution in 1918 will recall that the definite statement made to the public that the object of the Amendment was to provide a fund for the purchase of free text books. It is true enough that the Amendment itself and the Enabling Act were so worded as to include all this money in the available school fund, as there was no other simple and direct way of handling the matter. In order to keep faith with the people, the Commission admits that its duty is being discharged fully only when it recognizes that the people voted money for the district purpose of purchasing books suitable for use in the schools.

"It should be borne in mind that the present Commission met a popular demand by making all contracts for a long period of time as possible under the law. In nearly every instance the Commission made contracts for five or six years. One of the troubles in the past has been that the term of adoption in some cases was made for too short a period of time.

"Some of the critics have condemned the use of the beginner's geography for the third grade. The use of the geography in the third grade is made optional in the State Course of Study, but the records show that practically all schools order the regular primary geographies for this grade and that the school actually used the book in the hands of the children. Under the new contract, the gross price of the regular third grade or primary geography is $1.33 per copy, while the Beginner's Geography adopted for the third grade was purchased at a price of 75c per copy, saving 58c per copy. Granting that all the 135,645 children in the third grade are furnished geographies, the adoption of this Beginner's Geography will efect a saving of nearly $91,000. This estimate includes the usual 15 per cent excess allowed each year by the State Department of Education in order to take care of the variations in attendance.

"Before closing this statement, we feel that attention should be called to the fact that a spirit of give and take existed in the deliberations of the Commission. In fact the final adoptions made represent the composite judgment of the Commission rather than the single judgment of any individual member. There was a full and free discussion of every issue involved. No attempt was made to rush through any adoption without mature deliberation.

"In this statement we have tried frankly to put the case so the general public may understand something of the problems confronting the Commission. Of course it is possible to give only a glimpse of the work involved in such an enormous task The Commission made a sincere and diligent effort to handle this difficult matter in a way most advantageous to the children of Texas. No other motive actuated them in any sense."

George Cartey Is Freed Of Stomach Trouble of Long Standing—Gives Tanlac Full Credit.

"Tanlac has given me so much relief after I had suffered such a long time, that I can hardly find words to fully express my gratitude," declared George Cartey, 173 Broad St., Spartanburg, S. C., well-known machinist for the Spartanburg Cadillac Co.

"For about two years I was in such wretched health Icould scarcely do any work. I had stomach trouble all the time, and after every meal I would bloat up with gas till I could hardly stand it, and sometimse at night this trouble would make me so nervous I could not sleep.

" I read in the paper where Tanlac had helped otthers, and I thought maybe it would do me some good. I can say it has helped me wonderfully. My stomach is getting in fine shape, my appetite is good, I sleep soundly and am picking up right along. My confidence in Tanlac is unbounded."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists.

BELTON DEFEATS YOE HIGH IN CLOSE GAME.

Last Friday night the Yoe Hi basket ball team met its first defeat of the season, Belton's team being the winners. At the end of the game the score stood 16 to 15.

Substitutes—Graham for McCall, Green for Taylor, Thomas for Ely, McCall for Graham, Taylor for Green, Ely for Thomas, Graham for McCall, Green for Tayler, Thomas for Ely.

Substitutes—O. Higgenbotham for Muehlhaus, B. Higginbotham for Matthews.

Belton started off well with two goals in quick succession. But when Yoe Hi did get started, they made up for lost time.

In the second half Yoe Hi came back with ginger and before Belton could rally the score was 13 to 8. Then Belton found her stride and before Yoe Hi knew what was about, Belton had tied the score. Then with two minutes to play, Smith roped a free goal and the score stood 16 to 15. Yoe Hi made a desperate attempt to tie the score, but our forwards could not penetrate the Belton defense and the game ended with Belton leading, 16 to 15.

Taylor and Reichart tied for scoring honors, both scring four points. Ely, Graham and Green scored two points each and Thomas scored one.

B. Higginbotham and Smith were the individual stars for Belton, Higginbotham scoring eight points and Smith four. Matthews and C. Higgenbotham scoring two points each.

SENTATIONAL TRIAL HELD IN SENIOR ENGLISH CLASS.

Macbeth acquitted on a charge of murder.

Characters:

Macbeth—Lyons McCall.
Lady Macbeth—Pauline Green.
Donalbain—Lois Camp.
Malcolm—Bern Reichart.
Lennor—Joe Evans.
Ross—John Henry Yoe.
Porter—Sallie Coleman.
McDuff—Franklin Dusek.
Sergeant—W. D. Blackstone.
Banquo—Marvin Sykes.

Court was in session two days last week in Yoe High, Judge Harliegh McGregor presiding. The case on docket was the Crown vs. Macbeth, the indictment begin for murder in the first degree.

The defendant was ably represented by Bassett Watson, who pormised to become a shining light in the legal profession. Prosecuting attorney Ralph Joynes should be commended highly upon the zest with which he endeavored to establish the guilt of te accused.

The hearing of tthe case progressed rapidly the first day, the chief witness for the Crown being Banquo. Important witnesses for the defense were Macduff and Malcolm. The case reached a brilliant climax the second day, when the attorney for the defense made a most convincing appeal to the jury. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

YOE HIGH LETTER MEN.

By Dee Blackstone.

Coach Perkins is the best coach that Yoe Hi has ever had. All the boys liked him so well that he could get anything out of them. It is a real pleasure to play under Mr. Perkins as coach. He made a strong foot ball team this year of almost no material, and altho thirteen letter men graduate this year, we are confident that we will have a good football team next year.

McCall, captain and half-back, is the most brilliant half-back that ever packed a pig-skin. He is fast and hits the line like a pile driver. It was seldom that Mack was tackled for a loss.

Hefley, Captain elect, was a good half-back this year. All he lacked was weight and experience. In the Rockdale game, he intercepted a pass and ran 30 yards thru the entire Rockdale team for the only touchdown of the game. He will make us a good captain and half-back next season.

Baggett, that brilliant running half-back, was the fastest man on the squad. It was Baggett who, when called to carry the ball seldom failed to circle the opposing one for a substantial gain.

Green, that line-plunging, hard-hitting full back, will be hard to replace next season. When Yoe Hi needed a first down, Green was the man to carry the ball, and he seldom failed to make it. It was in the Killeen game, Brer "spread his stuff," hitting the line ten or fifeen yards every time he was called.

McGregor was probably the smallest man on the whole squad. But it was McGregor, with his snappy signals, that put the ginger into the Yoemen, and made them fight. He was absolutely death on returning punts. Taylor is still talking about "Runt," who gave them fits, dodging their ends every time they came down on a punt.

Childress will make Yoe Hi an ideal half-back next year. He is a good punter and plunges the line well. He looks little, but you don't know how big he is until you hit him, and the old gridiron.

Jones made us a good center this year. This was his first year at the center position, but he "threw his heroles." When it came to figuring out the opponents plays, he was there with the goods, and always pointed out the man to carry the ball. When the referee dug down into the mass of players after a live plunge, he usually found Togo on the bottom. Agee was not with the squad very long this season, but while he was with us he was "right in there." He was a tower of strength on the defense.

Ely replaced Agee on the squad and filled the position well. He was the best in the world when it came to fathoming the opponents plays, and he stopped all the plunges on his side of the line. When he was called upon, to open a hole, he opened one large enough to pull a wagon thru.

Thompson was a reliable guard on the defense, stepping all the plays coming his way and sometimes getting the man before he was fairly started. On the offense he was right in there, seldom failing to open a hole.

Graham was also a good man at either squad or tackle position. He filled either position well, and never failed to "talk it up" and put pep into his team mates.

Flinn was the best in the world when it came to stopping a plunge. He tackled hard and often. He was an irresistable force on the offense and an immovable body on the defense.

Taylor was a valuable man on the squad. He dopes the enemy's offense and never failed a time this season to break up a hidden ball trick. And punt, my, how that fellow could punt! He made everything we ran against look sick in that line. In one instance, in the Bartlett game, he punted 70 yards, the ball crossing the enemy's goal line. On the kick-off he never failed to kick the ball 40 yards.

Dusek was also a good man at the tackle. He was fast and usually tackled the opponents for a loss. He was a quick thinker and never was drawn over on a trick play. He smothered every attempt of the opponent on a criss-cross.

Yoe was a veritable giant at tackle. He was fast, even with his big feet, and was never found wanting when he was called to open a hole. On the defense he talked it up and smothered all attempts of the opponents off tackle. It was Yoe, who, in the Rockdale game, stopped the Rockdale off-tackle plays in spite of the slippery field.

Hearrell was a good man at tackle and was always on the bottom of the pile when the play came his way. He seldom missed a tackle and when he tackled, he tackled hard. He usually managed to get his man out of the way when called upon to open a hole.

Willis was an end who never let an opponet circle his end. Despite a bad knee, he played the entire season without a complaint. He was a good pass-snatcher, and could knife the interferance and get his man every time. He tackled low and hard, and the opponent usually felt hard after such a tackle.

Watson was another good end who was always in there when it came to pass-snatching and ability to get circled his end of the line, and he usually tackled them for a loss. He was fast and got down on the punts to tackle the opponent in his tracks.

Taking everything into consideration, Yoe Hi had a touch bunch of gridsters, and Mr. Perkins will make another good team next year, altho with little experienced material left. The Yoemen played twelve games, tied one, and won eight; their total points scored being greater than that of their opponents.

The Senior class entertained the Faculty and the Junior class at the home of Miss Pauline Green last Friday evening. The colors of the two classes, gold, white and green, were featured throughout the party.

Early in the evening a lively marshmallow contest was enjoyed. In the next diversion offered, the guests showed their originality and ingenuity in devising interesting life books. At intervals the guests listened in on radio concerts broadcasted from stations in Kansas City, Fort Worth, and other places. Dancing was enjoyed throughout the evening.

At a late hour the hostess, assisted by Misses Sallie Coleman and Lois Camp, served ice cream and wafers. Place favors were tiny ribbon knots in the combined colors of the two classes.

CHAPEL EXERCISES.

Miss Nell Du Bois had charge of the chapel program Tuesday morning. She presented her Grammar School Chorus Club in several selections.

The numbers rendered were as follows:

1. "Rock Me to Sleep and Lay Me Down in Dear Old Dixie Land."
2. "Everybody Calls Her Sunshine."
3. "Carolina Rolling Stone."
4. "Some Sunny Day."
5. "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers."
6. "Song of the Southern Moon."
7. "Fireside Blues."
8. "There's a Typical Tipperary."

YOE HIGH DEBATING CLUB.

The Yoe High Debating Club met in regular session January 12, 1923. The following program was rendered:

1. Duet—Piano, Misses Lillie Kate Beckerman and Katherine Agee.
2. Debate—Resolved, that Clemenceau did more for France during the World War than did Marshal Foch.

Affirmative—Willard Keith and W. D. Blackstone.

Negative—John Jeter and Lester Green.

The debate proved to be very interesting, the decision of the judges being 8 to 2 in favor of the affirmative.

There being no further business to be transacted, the club adjourned to meet again Thursday, January 18, 1923.

SOPHOMORE PICNIC (Delayed)

By Mike Wiley.

Last Friday night at 7:30 an energetic crowd of sophomores went on a was taken care of by Ford trucks moonlight picnic. The transportation floored with hay. Chaperones for the occasion were Miss Moore, class supervisor, and Mr. L. H. Kidd.

The crowd left the school building at 7:30 sharp. After about a half an hour's ride, filled with many joys and thrills, the crowd arrived at a beautiful place on Bear Creek. A large bonfire was built that gave plenty of light until the moon came up. After the fire had begun to crackle and roar, the entire crowd made a rush for the spring and everyone was refreshed with its cool water.

In due time the weenies were roasted, the pickles sliced, the bread cut, and to the joy of all present, they were passed around. For a short time very one sat in silent bliss as the much appreciated food was eaten. The marshmallows were then toasted.

After a short rest the crowd climbed the hill and watched the moon rise. When the moon was high, the crowd played several games which caused much blowing and puffing on the part of the girls. Soon the late hours compelled the chaperones to order the party on the truck and to their thoughts and bodies homeward. Everyone left with longing hearts and pleadings to stay a little longer, but the chaperones were cold-hearted, and their decree was final.

The energetic and lively crowd which had left town earlier in the evening had now become a tired, yet happy bunch. As they came into town they let out such whoops and yells that even the heaviest "Woodsawer" was awakened. Finally the job of returning each to his home was accomplished, and soon everyone was asleep and dreaming of weenies and hot juicy marshmallows.

ABOUT THE YOEMEN.

Miss Evelyn Pearl Payne spent the week end at her home in Normangee.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Preston, Saturday, January 6th, a daughter.

Miss Bess Wiley spent last week in Taylor.

Leonad—"Mr. Perkins, there must be some mistake about me flunking in this exam in geometry. I don't think I deserve zero."

Mr. Perkins—"I don't think so, either, but it is the lowest grade I could give you."

Mr. Meadows has adopted a system of entertaining his classes with popular jazz selections on the Victrola during lessons.

In an examination in physics one of the questions was: "What happens when there is an eclipse of the moon?"

One student who was expert on getting out of difficulties wrote: "A great many people come out to look at it."

Evidently Jack Hearrell thought his reputation as a good English student demanded that he should not attend class Monday morning.

Her father—(sternly)—"What earthly excuse has that young man for staying so late?"

Eugenia—(demurely)—"Me, daddy!"

THE SENSATIONAL RISE OF THE CHEVROLET.

"The most discussed automobie on the market is Chevrolet which in less than a year's time jumped from seventh to second place in current registrations and yet promises still more sensational developments in 1923," says G. C. White of the White-House Motor Company.

"This car has been on the market about sven years but not until the Fall of 1921 was it regarded at all seriously as a contender for leadership in the low-pirced field.

"At that time a line of new models was brought out embodying important engineering improvements, high-grade bodies on all closed models and prices ranging from $525 for the Touring Car to $875 for the 5-passenger Sedan (later reduced to $860.)

"The Chevrolet motor had always enjoyed an excellent reputation and the added improvement caused a rapid increase in demand that resulted in a shortage of supply that persisted all during 1922 in spite of double shifts and plant enlargements.

"The new models announced in October marked improvement in design and some added equipment at no advance in price.

"About this time it was announced that new assembly plants were being built at Buffalo, Cincinnati and Janesville, Wisc., also new body plants adjoining the automobile manufacturing plants at Buffalo, Cincinnati, Flint, St. Louis, Janesville and Oakland, thus giving Chevrolet the largest high-grade closed car capacity in the world.

In as much as the demand for closed always exceeded the supply at least part of the year, this new Chevrolet capacitly is very important, because as is well-known in the trade, closed car business goes to the concern that can make the quickest delivery.

"And now comes the copper-cooled Chevrolet, which has been discussed in engineering and trade circles for more than a year, all sorts of conflicting rmuors having circulated regarding its existence, its performance, price, etc.

Although it is said this new motor embodies no new scientific accomplishments, but merely successful application of established laboratory principles, it is very new to the trade and general public, and has been the center of interest at the New York Show.

"Production is stated to be limited, due partly to the extensive and expensive equipment required in the new metallurgical process employed for brazing the copper to cast iron—a feat hitherto considered impossible.

"The practical measure of the remarkable progress of Chevrolet is told by sales figures for the last two years. In 1920, up to that time the motor indstry's best year, Chevrolet marketed 153,646 cars, in the bad year of 1921, sales fell to 71,909 cars. 1922 rolled up the splendid total of 243,000 sales, and production schedules for 1923 are said to be about double the 1922 sales.

THE STATE OF TEXAS
CITY OF CAMERON.

On this the 19th day of December 1922, the City Council of the City of Cameron, Milam County, Texas, convened in regular session at the regular meeting place thereof in the City of Cameron, Texas, the following members of the Council, a quorum being present, to-wit: J. B. White, Mayor, Alderman, W. O. Triggs; Alderman, C. R. Phillips; Alderman H. M. Hefley; and George T. Graves, Alderman; passed the following order:

It was moved by Aledrman W. O. Triggs, and seconded by Alderman H. M. Hefley that there be submitted to the qualified voters of the City of Cameron, Texas, who are property tax payers therein the proposition for the issuance of the bonds of the said City of Cameron, Texas, in the sum of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.) for the purpose of paving and maintaining the streets within the limits of said City of Cameron. The electon to be held on the 13th day of February, A. D. 1923. The motion carried by unanimous vote of the Council.

Thereupon the following election order was adopted:

Whereas, the City Council of the City of Cameron, Texas, deems it advisable to issue bonds of the said City for the purpose hereinafter mentioned. Therefore, it is hereby ordered by the City Council of said City that an election be held on the 13th day of February A. D. 1923 at which election the following proposition shall be submitted:

Shall the City Council of the City of Cameron be authorized to issue the bonds of said City in the sum of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000) payable serially in thirty years from their date, and bearing interest at the rate of five and one-half (5 1-2) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and to levy a tax sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds and create a sinking fund sufficient to redeem them at maturity for the purpose of paving and maintaining the streets within the limits of the said City of Cameron, Texas.

Said election shall be held at the City Hall in the City of Cameron, and the following named persons are hereby appointed managers of said election: R. E. Sharpe, Presiding Judge; W. B. Skelton, Assistant Judge and Irwin Clary and Moulton Cobb, Clerks.

Said election shall be held under the provisions of Chapter 9 Acts of the 37th Legislature, Laws of 1921, and only qualified voters who are property tax payers of said City shall be allowed to vote and all voters desiring to support the proposition to issue bonds shall have printed on their ballots "For the issuance of bonds," and those opposing shall have printed on their ballots the words "Against the issuance of bonds." The manner of holding said election shall be governed by the Laws of the State regulating general elections.

A copy of this order signed by the Mayor and attested by the Secretary of said City of Cameron, Texas, shall serve as a proper notice of said election to be posted up at three places in said City of Cameron, one of which shall be at the City Hall of said City, for at least thirty days (30) prior to the date of said election and shall cause a copy of said notice of election to be published once each week for four successive weeks in a newspaper published in the City of Cameron, Texas, the date of first publication being not less than thirty (30) full days prior to the date of the election.

I certify this a true copy.

MOTHER! MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS

"California Fig Syrup" is Child's Best Laxative

Eeven if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." A teaspoonful never fails to clean the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the souring food and nasty bile out of the stomach and bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother. You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

PRAISE FOR WORK OF CAMERON MAN NOW IN BERLIN

CAMERON MAN ON DUTY IN EAST COMMENDED BY FELLOW WORKER

Alfred E. Brady of Cameron who is with the American Y. M. C. A. in the stricken acrea of the east is lauded in a letter received here by his mother. The letter written by C. Alexander is as follows:

To Mrs. A. E. Brady,
416 East 13th St.
Cameron, Texas

Dear Mrs. Brady:—

I have been planning for some time to write you this letter but the set of circumstances governing our lives of late have been so intense that I have been forced many times to put off writing. No doubt Alfred sends you regularly the news from this part of the world, and he has probably told you all of interest that there is to tell. We have had several strenuous months of it, but now the hardest part of the work has been done.

Alfred has been one of the heroes of the workers in the American Organizations in Southern Europe. I do not wish to flatter him, but for the work that he has done, I feel that he deserves due credit, and that his moter, above all others should know what a splendid service he has given to the mass of unfortunate people over here.

He and I were together in Cleavland, and later we met in New York. After he arrived in Berlin, we are all assigned to work in Constantinople. We had a very difficult piece of wrok there, and one demanding the services of a well trained man. In financing the Association there we must extend to Alfred a great lot of credit because his work enabled us to carry on an enormous piece of work on little more than half the budget which had been allowed there the year before.

At all times in Constantinople was one of the most stable men, if not the most stable there in our general staff, and despite the restless days and nights that the city was forced to live through, Alfred was always quiet, cheerful, and pacifying in all his contract. At times he carried the whole burden of the work there upon himself, and that was no small task in view of the fact that we had at one time 30 points of work, scattered all over the city. From our central office some these points were five to ten miles away, a few even more. Alfred was responsible for all the work in the Extension Dept., besides a lot of work within the central building.

Durnng the period of disaster in and along the Asiatic Coast when hundreds of thousands of refugees were streaming night and day in long crawling lines toward the embarkation points and safety, a call came to Constantinople for assistance in evacuating the refugees. I was at the meeting and Alfred was the first one to volunteer. Two other men also consented to go. Alfred with one of them hurried as quickly as possible on a war ship to the relief of the suffering people. Regarding the details of his experience he has already written you believe, and I shall not attempt to repeat, but there are many things that he did not tell you. He neglected to state that for almost three weeks he slept whenever and wherever possible, the most of the time curled up on the deck of a transport. Night and day he worked with all the energy he could summon, and thanks to hisHurculean efforts and fearless approach to danger about twenty five thousand people were rescued from the advancing armies, by Alfred alone. At one time he requistioned seventeen ships, and, standing on the prow of the formost, led the way into the Antolian ports often under rifle fire, and loaded his ships with frantic, starving people. At times he was forced to command the movements of the ships as even the sailors did not care to risk their lives; when one ran seized a gun for self protection Alfred commanded that he leave it behind, and go along empty handed. This was at the very time when bullets were glancing off the steel sides of the ship they were on. Th people simply worshipped him there; many kissed his hands, clothing, and the deck that he stood on, since he had rescued them from their terror.

After returning to Constantinople, he was a nervous wereck and forced to rest for several days. When we left Constantinople, Alfred, (We always call him Bill here, left for a rest and went South. He spent some time tramping the hillsides of Palestine, and in a small boat upon Galilee. He just was at the place where he must get away from the nervous strain or suffer from a nervous breakdown. Undoubtedly he will give you stories of his trip when he writes. I, and my wife, wish to express our deepest sympathy to you at this time. Tho' we have not met you, we feel that we know you quite well, having spent some time with your son. I felt that I must write you this letter, and hope that you will forgive me if I have been imprudent.

Seasons Greetings.

Sincerely Yours,
C. A. Alexander

The following letter is one received by Mrs. A. E. Brady of Cameron from her son who is now in Berlin, having recently gone to Germany from Greece where he was instrumental in saving the lives of many thousands of refugees fleeing from the Turk army:

Mother Dear:

Have just returned. Found tthe radiograms signed "Mother" and "Mayme" also your letter of November 27th, waiting for me. And dear old Dad we will never have with us again. If there were words adequate to express to you my sorrow and regret at not being able to be at home during his last days, and with you now during the most trying period of your sorrow, but such words fail me. How sweet to you the memory must be that he knew you till the last and how very fortunate that most all the children were at home. Only wish I might have been there. You know of course, Mother that touching my own dear ones, I fail, fail in words where trying to comfort but my heart bleeds for you at this time, for in trying to comfort you on the loss of a dear companion, I cannot forget that he was my very own and much beloved father. But you have sorrowed with me on two such occasssions before. Your sorrow and great loss I well know.

As always in times of great stress and trouble, I now again turn to the fourteenth chapter of St. John, reading the words Christ used in comforting His Disciples. Anr as I read chapter 18 I determined to make every effort to do likewie and may be able to write you shortly the outsome. It is well that we remember the words of St. Peter in which he exhorts patience in suffering as we read from first Peter 5 - 7th. verse: "Casting all yourlare upon him; for he caretth for you"—Without this thought, I could not have breasted the storms nor had courage to fight on and on thru trials that have come to me—trials that only God can know of. With Saint Paul, I might say "I have fought a good fight"

Am glad that you have had the comforting presence and help of Mayme, Viola, Ragan and Bernard, as well as all the others. I shall expect you to treasure all his last words, his hopes and aspirations for all of us, and tell me on my return. The office here did all possible to locate me, but failed entirely, not thru any fault of their own, as they wired all over the Near East. I had no definite program on my trip, and went from place to place on a moments notice, so they had no chance of finding me. Was in Damascus at the time, and knew that something was wrong, and so restless from that time on. Came very near returning to Berlin from Damascus, but could get no passage back until Nov. 30, so was forced to work my way down by degrees, thru Syria, Palestine, Egypt until that date.

Give my very best love to all the children; Kiss Alfred for me. With a heart full of love for your own dear self.

Your Son,
ALLIE.

ATTACK IS MADE ON EDUCATIONAL BILL IN CONGRESS

STERLING-TOWNER BILL POLITICAL SAY LENGTHY REPORT MADE.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Five of the eight members of the committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to investigate and report on proposals for the creation of a Federal Department of Education, have signed the majority report opposing such legislation. Two members of the committee favor the proposal as embodied in the Sterling-Towner Bill, and one member has filed a brief declaring in favor of federal aid for the States in educational matters for opposing the creation of a Federal Department of Education These opinions are made public in connection with the referendum which the National Chamber is taking on the issues involved in the Sterling-Towner bill in pursuance of resolutions adopted at the annual convention of the chamber in April, 1921. Briefs of the majority and minority reports are sent to member organizations of the National Chamber with the ballots upon which they are asked to make known their attitude on the question. A two-third vote is required to bind the national organization on questions of policy.

Undesirable centralization of authority, danger of federal control of education, satisfactory progress that is being made under the present system, the ability of the States to take care of their own educational problems if they really want to do so, "log-rolling" characteristics of proposed legislation, and the fact that, even if passed, the pending proposal would not really accomplish anything in the way of coordination of the proper educational activities of the government, are some of the arguments advanced in the majority report which is emphatic in its opposition to the Sterling-Towner bill.

After reviewing the provisions of the bill which would appropriate $100,000,000 of federal money for the public schools, $50,000,000 of which would be expended for the establishment of a Department of Education with a Secretary in the Cabinet, the majority report reads:

"The agitation for this bill represents the growing tendency to endeavor to centralize all government activities in Washington and take away from the people the practice of the control of their own affairs. If our government is to survive, it can only be by constant exercise of self-government by the people in things which vitally concern them. No activity of the government is of more vital concern to every citizen than education.

"Hitherto, the management, control and support of our public school systems has rested with the local communities and the States. Federal participation in education means a revolutionary change in the conduct of our public schools; for it is the beginning of the federal control. This is the inevitable consequence of appropriations of federal money for public schools. The proponents of the Sterling-Towner bill have thounght to prevent the tendency to federal control by inserting a clause in the bill to the effect that the federal government shall not control the expenditure of the money which is to be turned over to the States. This clause is a Ford brake on a Pierce-Arrow car. It won't hold. The recipients of bounties are sure to be complaint to the views of the dispenser of the funds, even though his wishes are not embodied in words of command. The spirit of the law is more powerful than the letter. The bill itself contains the beginnings of federal control, as it sets up standards to which the States must conform. It establishes a Department of Education with a secretary and it gives him the power to withhold the appropriations from States which do not maintain the standards"

As to the need for federal participation in educational affairs on a more comprehensive basis than at present, the majority report declares: "The proposal for federal participation rests, first, upon the argument that the present method of support and control by States and communities has broken down. We have reviewed the educational development of the nation since the Civil War and find that, far from having broken down, the progress made in the past fifty years represents an achievment unparalleled in any other country. The total expenditures for public schools increased from $63,600,000 in 1871 to $1,103,000,000 in 1920, or more than sixteen times while the school population increased during the same period approximately four times. The value of public school property increased from $130,000,000 in 1870 to $1,900,000,000 in 1918. The increase in attendance, the average length of the school year and in the average amount of education received by the population of the country has been remarkable, but even more notable has been the improvement in the quality of our schools, better teachers, better text-books, better methods of instruction, better buildings, and equipment. The whole spirit of public school instruction has been revolutionized within the past fifty years. Never have the States and local communities been so interested, so alive to their responsibilities, sop rogressive and generous in the support of their public schools as at the present time.

Taking up the plea that federal aid is necessary because some states are financially unable to take care of their own educational problems, the majority of the committee members dispose of it as follows:

"The property argument is the other premise of the case for federal participation. Federal aid is needed, it is claimed , because some States are too poor to furnish adequate schools for their children. It is true that the wealth of our state varies, but no State has made the claim that it cannot provide a good common school educational for all of its school children. The relative wealth statistics of the States which have been presented to Congress by the advocates of the bill as the basis of the 'poverty' argument show that the least wealthy States are all Southern States. There is an abundance of evidence, however, from official reports within these very States that the real difficulty is not poverty but that their systems of assesment and taxation are poorly administered and are of an antiquated and ineffective character.

"The income and ability of a State to maintain a satisfactory school system depends only in part on the property within the area; it depends quite as much also upon the willingness of the people of the State to adopt a modern system of tax laws and assess to its real value the property within the State, collect a substantial tax on property thus assessed and then to use a subtantial proportion of the income thus derived for schools purposes instead of using it for other less esential purposes."

Attacking the underlying reasons for the Sterling-Towner bill the majority report continues: "We have examined in detail the basis of the distribution of federal funds in the Sterling-Towner bill and find that the framers of the bill have been guided by political considerations rather than educational necessities. It is a log-rolling bill. More than $40,000,000 out of the $100,000,000 appropriations would be apportioned to the following eight States: New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Texas. These States can not be classed at States with backward educational institutions; they pay their teachers well above the average for the country. There is neither an educational nor a poverty argument for federal aid for these states."

As for the argument that the importance of education should be recognized by having a Secretary of Education in the Cabinet the majority of the committee members took the position that:

"Placing a Secretary of Education in the cabinet would not necessarily add to the appreciation of the importance of education. In no country in the world is education more highly prized than in the United States. Although there has been an educational officer in the Cabinets of European nations, there is no analogy because the federal characters of the United States Government is not known in European nations, which are highly centralized and in which education is administred by the central government.

"There is no evidence that a Secretary of Education would furnish national leadership. Leadership depends upon the man, his personality, the creation of ideals, the development of enthusiasm. With a sent in the cabinet the head of the Department of Education will be selected on the basis of party politics, and if a politician is selected for the head of the department, what kind of national leadership will result?

"The Sterling-Towner bill does not provide for the consolidation under the proposed Department of Education, of any of the educaltonal activities of the government. The bill simply provides that such other branches of the government shall be added to the department as Congress may determine should be administered by the Department of Education. It is not likely that many of the other odcational activities of the government will ever be transferred from the departments in which they are now located to the proposed new department for they are too closely connected with the administrative work of those departments or of so highly specialized character that they can be more efficiently administered under their present departments is not likely that ever be transferred or that the In- the educational activities of West Point and Annapolis Acadamies will dian schools will be administred by a Department of Education, niether is it expected that the agricultural experiment stations and other agricultural educational institutions now conducted by the Department of Agriculture will be taken from the department.

"The bill does not even propose that the Board of Vocational Education shall be administred under the new department. The new bill is entirely furtile in accomplishing anything in the way of coordination of the educational activities of the government."

COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Cameron Commercial Club, Directors Meetting, Friday night, January 11, 1923.

The following officials of the club were present:

Officers: C. W. Lawrence, president; R. H. McIntosh, vice-president. Directors: J. W. Coleman, Robt. McLane, W. G. Gillis, W. M. Cobb, C. R. Phillips, O. M. Smith, C. W. Bradbury.

Committee chairmen: C. A. Sprott, Dan Tyson.

President Lawrence asked Moulton Cobb to act as secretary in place of W. B. Skelton, resigned.

Minutes of the first meeting were read and motion adopted.

W. G. Gillis, a member of the good roads committee, reported that he had conferred with County Commissioner N. H. Butts in regard to repairing the road between Minerva and Cat Tail creek and that the commissioner's court agreed to match the money raised for repairing this highway. W. H. Fletcher of Minerva was consulted and he agreed to keep the road in repair. In regard to the Lilac-San Gabriel road, Mr. Gillis said that he had seen County Commisssioner Moore and that this road would be in good condition within thirty days. The co-operation of those living along the highway was sought, according to Mr. Gillis. J. W. Coleman suggester that Will Davis, Hardin Camp and others in that section be seen in regard to keeping this road in excellent repair.

W. G. Gillis, chairman of a special committee of five to select a secretary for the club, said that his committee unanimously recommended Moulton Cobb. J. W. Coleman moved that the committee's report be accepted. C. R. Phillips seconded the motion and it carried.

President Lawrence emphasized the importance of the club's officers, directors and committee chairmen attending the meetings regularly. Mr. Coleman suggester that the best way to stimulate interest was to have a banquet and get together meeting and believed it advisable to sell tickets for the affair. It was pointed out that the Methodist church basement was an ideal place for such a gathering and the chairman appointed the following committee to confer with the ladies of that church relative to the banquet: Will O. Triggs, chairman; F. R. Dunlap and J. C. Tuker.

The chairman of the publicity committee, Dan Tyson, reported that his committee had been very active in sending out live and authentic news items from Cameron. He stated that his committee hoped to do even better in the future with the co-operation of the Commercial Club.

J. W. Coleman moved that the new secretary compile a list of the directors and committee chairmen of the club who have failed to attend any of the last three meetings and report their names at the following meeting. It was pointed out that an official is automatically suspended if he fails to be present for three consecutive meetings without a valid excuse. The motion, seconded by W. M. Cobb, carried.

The secretary called attention to the fact that Cameron seemed to be a rendezvous for professional beggers who were nothing but parasites who preyed upon the citizens of the town, and declared that some definite action be taken in freeing the city from such undesirables. O. M. Smith called attention to the fact that Cameron has a city ordinance forbidding these characters but that it was not enforced. The secretary was instructed to write the city secretary, requesting that the city council urge the city marshal to enforce this part of our local laws.

The club voter to adjourn.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

BILL WOULD PRESCRIBE COURSE OF STUDY FOR PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

EDITORS NOTE—The following bill has been prepared by Representative O. D. Baker to be introduced in the house of representatives. The Herald publishes this bill as a matter of information to its readers.

A BILL

To Be Entitled

An Act on the subject of Compulsory Education, amending Articles 2779a and 2779 b of Title 48, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, requiring all children within the scholastic age to attend the public school in the district of the residence of such student or in the district to which such student may be transferred, for the full period for which the school is conducted; making it the duty of the parent, guardian or person having control, charge or custody of any such child, or children, to send the same to said school for the full period for which the same is conducted and a failure to do so, is punishable as provided in the Penal Code, each day shall constitute a separate offense; defining the classes of children who are exempt from the requirements of the Act; and by adding two sections, providing the benifit of free text books for such pupils as may be taught in private and parochial schools, or by the parent or guardian, or private tutor, and also providing for an examination by the county superintendent or superintendent of an independent school district, or town or city of such child or children taught other than in public schools, and providing, that if found deficient of such examination, such superintendent may require the attendance of such child or children upon the public schools; and repealing Article 2779c, Title 48 of the Revised Civil Statute.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section I. That Atricle 2779a of Title 48, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, be and the same is hereby amended, so to hereafter read as follows:

Article 2779a. Beginning with the September terms 1923 of the public schools of this state, and thereafter, every child in this state within the scholastic age, shall be required to attend the public school in the district of his or her residence, or in the district to which the child or children may be by law transferred, for the full period for which said public school is conducted. It is hereby made the duty of the parent, guardian of other person having control, charge or custody of a child, or children within the scholastic age, at the commencement of a term of the public school to send such child or children to said school for the period of time the same shall be conducted, and any such paernt, guardian or person having control, charge or custody of such child or children who shall fail, refuse or neglect so to do, shall be guilty of misdemeanor and each day's failure to send such child or children to the public school shall constitute a separate offense, punishable as provided in the Penal Code of this State.

Section II. That Article 2779b be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

Article 2779b. The following classes of children are exempt form the requirements of this act:

(a) Any child instructed by private tutor or who attends a private or parochial school and who receives in either case instruction in the courses and branches of study prescribed for the public schools.

(b) Any child whose bodily or mental condition is such as to render atendance inadvisable and who holds definite certificate of a reputable physician specifying this condition and covering the period of absence.

(c) Any child who is blind, deaf, dumb, or feeble minded, for the instruction of whom, no adequate provision has been made by the school district.

(d) Any child residing more than two and one-half miles by direct and travelled road from the nearest public school supported for children of the same race and color of such child, and with no free transportation provided.

(e) Any child who has satisfactorily completed the work of the Eighth grade of a standard elementary school.

Section III. That any parent or guardian, or any one standing in the place of a parent to any child or children in this state who desires to comply with the provisions of Section II of this Act by instructing his own child or children, or employing a private tutor therefor, or by sending them to some private or parochial school, may, nethertheless, at the time of the distribution of free text books to the scholastic pupils of the public schools in the district, town, or city in which he may live, make application to the agency instructed with the distribution of such books for such as may be required for each of said children of the same grade in the public schools, giving the name age and grade of each of such children, and such distributing agency shall furnish the books required for such children as are purchased for same grades in the public schools, on the same terms and conditions as they are furnished to scholastic pupils in the public schools.

Section IV. The county superintendent of the county in which such private or parochial school is located, or the superintendent of the independent school district, town, or city in which same is situated, or in any of said units in which such child or children are taught, if taught by parent or private tutor, shall have the right, and is hereby made his duty quarterly to go into such private or parochial school, or into the home of such child or children, if taught by parent or private tutor, and conduct an examination of such child or children in the curriculum of the public schools of same grade, or at the option of such superintendent, he may request the presence of such child or children at some place he may designate for such examination and if upon such examination he should find they are not being taught in the same curriculum prescribed for the public schools of the same grade, or that their advancement in such studies is inferior to the work of the same grades in the public school, it shall be his duty to require, their attendance upon the public schools in the same manner as is now or may hereafter be required by law, and a wilful failure of the parent or the one standing in his place to comply with the order of such superintendent to require such child or children to attend such public school shall be punished as provided by law for such parents or those standing in their place for refusing to send their child or children to school as is required by law.

Section V. That Article 2779c, Title 48, be and the same is hereby repealed.

WELL NEAR CHRISMAN REPORTED 100 BARRELS DAY

Chrisman, Jan. 11.—The last report from the Caldwell Petroleum Co. No. 1. Gilley well which is located about two miles east of Chrisman in Burleson county, are that the well is showing up for a good producer at 2136 feet. It is thought that this well will make better than 100 barrels per day, but until it is tested out the exact amount is not known.

This well is about seven and one half miles airline from Milano, extending the Milano field south that far. Should there be oil there it will be proven that oil fields surround us on all sides. Oil has been found within a radius of eight miles in every direction.

GILLEY NO 1 WILL MAKE COMMERCIAL PRODUCER.

Chrisman, Texas., Jan. 11.—The Gilley No 1., located on the Speckman tract, which is now owned by the Caldwell Petroleum Company, came in Monday with an amount of oil which is expected to make better than 100 barrels per day, according to experts. This well is located one and one half miles east of Chrisman, eight miles due south of Milano. According to geologists, it is on the west slope of the Milano uplift. This well is under the supervision of Mr. Bill Nabors, and is at depth of 2000 feet. The pool of oil was entered at between 1915 and 2000 feet.

At a depth of 1500 feet or over a lime and sand stone was found, the formation being clyicates of lime, carbon or hydro carbon.

The formation that the bit is now working in is known as the Taylor marl foundation, which is on top of the Austin chalk.

The exact amount of production this well will make cannot be determined at this time, due to the hole being full of mud an the continual flow of water. Men in charge of the drilling are waiting for expert advice to determine what to do next. But it is thought that it will make a commercial producer. Further steps will be taken within the next few days to ascertain the production this well will make.

ROCKDALE WELL TO BE SPUDDED IN NEAR FUTURE.

Rockdale, Texas, Jan. 11.—All drilling equipment including several hundred feet of drill stem has been put on the drilling site about three miles west of Rockdale. This well is to be put down by a Fort Worth concern under the managment of local drillers. They expect to be spudded in by the first of next week.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

NEFF AND DAVIDSON TAKE OATH TUESDAY; OUTLINE POLICIES

GOVERNOR PLEADS FOR GREAT SERVICE TO PEOPLE

Austin, Jan. 16.—Calling upon the members of the Thirty-eighth legislature to comprehend their duties, undertake to perform them with courage charity and humility, "obliterating personal interests and rising to the heights of patriotic effort in behalf of this great state." Governor Pat Morris Neff at noon today took the oath of office for his second term amid impressive ceremonies attended by hundreds of public officials and private citizens. T. W. Davidson of Marshall was innaugurated as lieutenant governor, succeeding Lynch Davidson.

The governor in his inaugural address emphasized the "deep consciousness" which he felt concerning the responsibility which attaches to executive office and declared that it gave "inspiration to the heart and courage to the soul." He exalted patriotism in glowing terms, defining it as "one of the noblest attributes of human life." "Love of country finds its highest expression in sacrificed service," he said. "In song and in story, in marble and in mausoleums, in poems and in paintings have been immortalized the lives and labors of those who served the state.

"Your presence here as lawmakers is typical of the presence of all the people of Texas. You have been selected by your constituents in accordance with the provisions of our constitution. You have deposited all their power in your hands. I commend and congratulate you that you have seen fit to lay aside for a time personal affairs and the private pursuits of life and gather here as the representatives of five million people who can only be represented by your voice and by your vote. What a broad and ample field you have in which to serve.

"You are the honored representatives of a country larger than Germany—larger than France—larger than was America when she whipped the conqueror of Napoleon. You represent a state providentially dowered with vast and varied natural resources; favored with four hundred miles of water front, an open gateway to the world; enriched with agriculture, horticulture, stock raising, mineral productions and a thousand other enterprises all vieing in a friendly rivalry for recognition as the principal industry; a commonwealth occupied by a people loyal, patriotic and true. To be the representatives of such a state and the spokesman for such a people is an opportunity for honor that comes to but few in this world.

"A sacred trust is that of a lawmaker. His function is the highest known to man. He is clothed with the power and duty to act for the people What he commands they must do. He gives direction to their conduct and to their activities. The people place their burdens and their problems in his hands. They look to him to protect them in life and property.

"They look to him to expend their money judiciously; they look to him to safeguard their interests; they look to him to strengthen their government, to lift high ideals, and to keep at all times, unsullied and untarnished, the honored commission which they with full confidence placed in his hands. Thus to serve is a noble ambition. I congratulate most heartily this law making body that you selected this legislative hall as a forum in which to toil and struggle for a greater Texas. No man should consider himself too big or too busy to take an active interest in the political affairs of his country. Politics is a broad and ample field for noble endeavor. It is won or lost at last the things worth while that touch the lives not only of the living but shape the destiny of generations yet to be. Therefore my friends and co-workers, with mutual confidence with enlarged vision, with quickened zeal, and with lofty ideals, let us consecrate ourselves in service to the state.

We are the trusted servants of the people. We should not forget them. We should have no ambition not in keeping with the growth and glory of the state. Nothing short of wholehearted allegiance on our part to the people of Texas will suffice. Many grave and serious problems confront you. The educational life of the state is counting on you; the livestock interests covet your counsel; the fortunes of the farmers await your action; the barometer of business rises and falls as you vote; the eyes of Texas are upon you. We legislate, for five million people. Let us not place over against the interest of Texas selfish considerations, personal animosities, or immaterial issues Let us forget discords and differences and begin our work with only one thought that of serving faithfully and efficiently the best interests of Texas For this high purpose I pledge you my best efforts. I earnestly solicit your cordial co-operation. You and I together have a big constructive legislative program. Through written messages already submitted by me to your honorable body, you are familiar with my views on certain phases of legislation and it shall be my pleasure to submit to you from time to time other recommendations for your considerations. As we work together may charity characterize our thought; may tolerance temper our tongues; may moderation mark our conduct; may intelligence inspire our council, and may justice jealously guide every legislative act. All for Texas and Texas for all should be the consuming thought and the constant slogan of both you and me as we think and work together in an effort to make this commonwealth the best place in all the world in which to live. Members of the Thirty-eighth legislature as the twenty-seventh governor of Texas, I salute you."

PARENT-TEACHER'S ASSOCIATION.

The Parent-Teachers Association met Wednesday afternoon in the Auditorium of the Yoe High School with a goodly number present.

The principal speakers were Rev. H. R. McFadyen, Mrs. Graham Gillis and Moulton Cobb. Mr. McFadyen spoke on the "Street School;" giving convincing argument that the small boy and girls gathered many things not needful while loitering on the street either to or from school, strongly urging the parent to be ever watchful over their children along this line.

Mrs. Gillis gave an interesting talk on the many things needed to bring up the grammar school buildings equipments, etc., to be on par with our high school; the lack of which will cripple the advancement of the student before entering high school.

Moulton Cobb spoke on the pending election and provision of funds for paving the proposed business district of our city. Each speaker received close attention and was enjoyed by all in attendance.

These meetings should be well attended by all patrons of the schools and all interested citizens of our town.

BIBLE CLASS

The attendance at the Men's Bible Class, at the Baptist Church last Sunday was excellent, there being thirty-eight present.

We had a good lesson. There was much interest, and a splendid spirit of fellowship prevailed.

Several splendid points on the Spirit of Christian service were brought. This central thought wa emphasized "We must all strive to fill to the fullest the niche which the creator intended us to fill."

Next Sunday, Jan. 21, We shall discuss the subject, "How to Treat Sinners." Come, meet with us, a welcome awaits you.

DRASTIC PROGRAM TO ENFORCE LAWS OUTLINED BY NEFF.

Mr. Ball expressed unqualified approval of the calling of a constitutional convention. He declared that if persons opposed to calling such a convention on the ground that factionalism would be injected into its proceedings were to wait until factionalism were done away with they would wait until the "coming of the prince of peace."

"There can be no danger in calling a constitutional convention whenever a majority favor such a step and if a new constitution is properly drawn and submitted and understood by the people it is bound to be good if adopted," Mr. Ball said.

He also spoke in favor of amending present election laws and upheld the primary system over the old convention system. Election laws should be stripped of all impediments to independent conduct of party affairs so long as they are conducted without fraud and corruption, he added.

Representative Finley of Fife, introduced a joint resolution proposing amendment to the constitution which would empower the legislature to grant pensions to Confederate soldiers and their widows who were citizens of Texas prior to Jan. 1, 1900 and financing the pensions by levying a tax of 7 cents on the $100 valuation on property. A resolution seeking to limit and regulate the length of freight trains was offered by Representative Dodd of Nash.

Representative Rountree of Bryan introduced an appropriation measure which would build a $100,000 administration building for the extension service of A. & M. college.

The house committee on state affairs met at noon and reported unfavorably the Jacks marriage bill, providing the publication a month before hand of the names and ages of persons contemplating marriage. The Stroder bill aimed at abolishing teaching evolution in the public schools was not considered by the committee at the request of the author who desired to revise the bill so as to eliminate the penal features.

Representative Teer of Granger, Chitwood of Sweetwater and Satterwhite of Carson were appointed as a committee to investigate and report on the state railroad.

The Laird resolution calling for an investigation of the recent awards of the state text book commission was passed over until next Monday. The resolution was scheduled for consideration today.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

With the work of installing the street lights practically complete it is believed the part of precaution to discuss their relation to traffic problems and to urge the people to give the officers the best possible co-operation.

Car drivers who have been accustomed to driving in the town district may find until they have become accutomed to the light poles, difficulty in turning at the intersection but the fact that these light poles are to be used for directing traffic will in time make them a great asset to the city.

The city does not feel it necessary to say that all must "drive to the right." This admonition has been synonmous with traffic regulations always and the officers believe all who are permitted to drive cars know in advance that these light poles are silent directors of the traffic and request that all observe the regulations rigidly so as to avoid accidents and the necessity of making complaints.

The lights are a distinct departure for Cameron in the way of street lighting and the city is proud of them and believes the citizens are mindful of their usefulness as well as improvment to the appearance of the city.

Automobiles cannot be driven fast in the business district both because of the traffic regulations and the laws against speeding. The officers desire to call these matters to the attention of the public now to avoid accidents and to enforce a more orderly handling of the traffic. Failure to drive to the right and the practice of cutting corners will lead to accidents but with every one co-operating the traffic problem can be solved.

Care in driving in the business district is desirable not only as a means of avoiding accidents but will protect the light poles from damage by accidents. Motorists are therefore urged to observe all the regulations such as turning around the poles and keeping to the right.

THE CLUB HUSBAND.

Oh, here's to our man who does what he can
To help the club women along;
He sends us to the club, eats predigested grub,
And never does think we do wrong.

He sings lullaby if baby should cry,
Or writes, if needed, a toast;
He furnishes cash, tho' fed on cold hash,
But at times we give him a "roast."

But he takes it so nice the "roast" doth suffice
To give us great arguing power;
His voice is not heard, we get the last word,
For we are the talkers of the hour.

He patches his pants and gives us a chance
To fill the great places we've won;
He wears a long coat, that his friends cannot note
The course needle work he has done.

He heeds all our wishes, from washing the dishes,
To sweeping or building the fires;
A husband like this should give us all bliss
And help us to gain our desires.

Some think it quite funny we need so much money
For clubs and ladies who preside;
You need never doubt it, we can't do without it,
So a husband is needed "on the side."

EIGHTY-NINTH BIRTHDAY PARTY.

By far the most unique and enjoyable affair of the season was the surprise birthday party given Mrs. Sallie Bigbee, ("Aunt Salliie" as she is lovingly spoken of) last Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Lottie Bigbee at her home on East 3rd street.

Aunt Sallie was invited to spend the day in the home, and after resting in the afternoon, was asked to come into the parlor which she found had been transformed into an early spring suggestion by the beautiful roses and ferns used in decorations. Curtains were drawn and shaded globes cast a mellow light over the scene while in the grate added welcome.

The honoree has the distinction of being the oldest lady resident in Cameron. She atttained her 89th birthday Oct. 20, 1922. This party had been planned for her birthday but owing to the lengthy spell of sickness had been postponed until strength had been returned to her. All of the older ladies of the town were invited to spend the afternoon; many younger ones calling to offer a word of love and affection to this dear old lady Mrs. Alex Triggs, in her sweet manner sung two old-time melodies, Mrs. Ira Key accompanying her. This was a charming diversion in the early part of the afternoon. Later Mrs. William Ross charmingly rendered several fine old-time melodies on the piano, which was much enjoyed by all present. Pleasant conversation was indulged in and old jokes and incidents related, after which the pretty white birthday cake was brought in decorated with 89 small pink and white candles which were lighted and the honoree was bade to make a wish for each candle, then a fan to puff them out, after which the hostess, assisted by Mesdames John S. Owens and Miss Delphya Scott, served delicious hot chocklate with whipped cream and angel food cake.

It was a late hour in the afternoon when the guests bade Aunt Sallie a pleasant good evening wishing her many returns of her natal day. Those invited included the following ladies: Mrs. Sallie Bigbee, the honoree; Mesdames Wm. Ross, Maggie Martin, Grantham, Gardner, Martha Rogers, Texanna Rucker, E. J. Dobbins, Jim McLane, E. J. TUESDAY CLUB

An attractive red and green motif was selected by Mrs. Paul Webb to feature her hospitality on Tuesday afternoon when she entertained the members of the Tuesday Forty-Two club, and a few aditional guests, at her home on West Main street, which looked charming with the native red berry which was tastily entwined with red roses added color.

On entering the guests were served sandwiches and hot tea. Afterward 5 tables of enthusiastic players enjoyed the diversion of the afternoon which was forty-two. The table and tally cards carried out the color scheme. At the conclusion of five spirited games the hostess, assisted by Mrs. E. C. Munnell, house guest, Misses Gladys Watson and Sallie Kate McLane, served daintly Plum Pudding. Table favors were pretty powder puffs and plate favors were miniature flower pots with red berries.

ONLY ONE DRAW BACK.

Binks—You seem to think a great deal of Miss Bopp. Why don't you marry her?

Jinx—Oh, she's all right, but she hasn't got a very good job.

Binks—What's that got to do with it?

Jinx—I'm afraid she wouldn't be able to support me. You see she only makes about $40 a week.

"Why were you not suspicious of the thief who grabbed a tray of diamonds and darted out of the door?"

"His disarmed suspicion," said the jeweler.

"He said he wanted to look at some engagement rings, and the fellow acted the part so well that he actually stammered and turned red."

It's no use to be miserable if you've got other things on your mind.

HIS CHANCE.

Father—Yes, my son, I wish I could be young again. Wouldn'a it be funny if I should once more become a little boy?

Tommy—Maybee it wouldn't be so awful funny for you, Pa. If you got to be littler than me I think I'd square up a few things.

AT CLOSE QUARTERS.

Mama—Who was that young man who was dancing with you?

Flossie—I don't know.

Mamma—Well then what did he look like?

Flossie—I don't know that either. He danced so close to me that I couldn't see him.

It is a mistake for a man these days to marry a girl to reform her.

The Barber—Mr. Smith would leave his arm if it were loose. He left his cane here again.

Boss—I think you're right. I heard him say the other day, that he was going to Colodado for his lungs.

He thought he could escape
A life of work and toil.
And bought a lot of stock—
Alas! There was no oil.

FORTY YEARS AGO.

Nobody swatted the fly.
Nobody wore a wrist watch.
Nobody had appendicitis.
Nobody knew about radio.
Most young men had "livery bills."
Farmers come to town for their mail.
The heavens were not full of man birds.
The hired girl drew one-fifty a week and was happy.
Young men learned trades at $5 per week.
The butcher "threw in" a chunk of liver.
The merchant "threw in" a pair of suspenders with every suit.
Nobody listened in on the telephone.
Office folks did not know about a fan in the summer time, and ice water was a treat.
Folks went to bed at 9 p. m. and rose at 5 a. m. in the morning.

TODAY'S SERMON.

The wise mother in the home, is the wise mother in the nation. The nation is but an aggregation of homes.

MILAM COUNTY LEGISTATURE FACE A BUSY SESSION.

opposition from the Catholics of Texas as well as protestants who believe such legislation would be an infringement on the religious liberty of its people. This argument is based on the fact that the Catholics incorporate as a part of their studies in parochial schools, religious training which they logically hold is essential to good citizenship.

Mr. Looney will persue his announced policy of introducing no bills but using his influence to kill bad legislation and useless laws.

MITCHELL AGAIN NOMINATED FOR LEGION HEAD.

lowing members were appointed by the Chair: Ed Hess, Eli Horstmann, Dr. W. H. Lyon, Preston Laird, Robt. D. Clark, J. D. Peeples, J. D. Kirk, Frank Harlan, Noel Yardely, Joe Richter and Leo Stecher. Instead of the voting being done by mail as was previously announced, as all nominations for office were without opposition, the election and installataon of officers will be done from the floor of the hall at the annual meeting on Feb. 22.

The present Post Commander was named for another term without opposition and the selection was unanimous. The proceedings of the State and National conventions and their accomplishments were stated to the members by Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Henderson, both men made excellent talks and were received. The Legion starts off the year in a healthy financial condition with about 80 members.

NOTICE TO ROAD OVERSEERS.

Cameron, Texas, Jan. 17, 1923.

Road Overseers:

You are requested by the Honorable Commissioners Court of Milam county to give your roads a final working, correctly report same in your commission and return said commission to H. M. Roark, County Clerk, not later than February 12, 1923.

Yours very truly,
JEFF T. KEMP,
County Judge.

CIVIC LEAGUE.

The Civic League met at the City Park Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The meeting was called for the purpose of electing officers. The following officers were elected: Mrs. W. A. Morrison, president; Mrs. Geo. T. Graves, vice president; Mrs. R. S. Boykin, treasurer and Mrs. A. H. Baskin, secretary.

The Civic League will meet on first and third Fridays of each month. The public is invited to attend these meetings to help in some of the future constructive plans for the school and the community.

MRS. A. H. BASKIN,
Secretary.
